Background: (Why this purchase is being proposed?)

Based on a review of the 2017-2018 school year, it has been determined that the Holocaust Unit no longer meets cross-curricular alignment or unit goals as presented in the current curriculum model. As the current unit (Research: The Holocaust) progressed, it was evident instruction in core skills were lacking and did not provide students with a readiness to learn and succeed. Furthermore, students exhibited a confusion of time period when transitioning from the social studies curriculum to the language arts classroom as the year in social studies ends with the Civil War.

In addition, the eighth grade curriculum lacks a mentor text featuring a minority character. This gap alienates many of our students. The inclusion of a Native American protagonist will provide students with an opportunity to expand their worldview and connect with someone who demonstrates the struggles of our minority population.

Process used to select this curriculum resource:

Joseph Bruchac is a celebrated Native American author. Many of his poems and short stories are already a part of our curriculum. In addition, the novel Winter People was just added to our summer reading list. This novel directly connects to the social studies curriculum. The title of the unit will be “Embracing Heritage”. The unit will provide instruction and monitoring of the core skills necessary to enhance student performance. Furthermore, the novel will strengthen the alignment of the social studies curriculum to the literature/concepts presented in language arts.

Is this the only curriculum resource for this course? No If not, what other resource(s) will be used?

- Supporting Modified Instruction- Touch My Tears: Tales from the Trail of Tears by Sarah Sawyer, As Long as the Rivers Flow: The Stories of Nine Native Americans by Paula Gunn Allen and Patricia Clark Smith
- Teacher- Native Americans Today: Resources and Activities for Educators, Grades 4-8 by Arlene Hirschfelder, Native Americans: A Thematic Unit on Converging Cultures by Wendy S. Wilson, The Truth About Stories: A Native Narrative by Thomas King

How was this resource evaluated in terms of providing adequate instructional support for the curriculum?

The novel has been chosen because it provides rigor and aligns with the eighth grade standards, while maintaining a level of content appropriate for middle level students.

Enduring Understandings –By the end of the unit, students will understand that...

- our heritage defines us individually and as a nation.
- our heritage molds our belief systems and influences our traditions.
- background information enhances understanding of literature.
- oral tradition is vital to the survival of culture.
- the experiences of each American populace varies and is influenced by cultural misunderstandings/prejudice.
- genocide occurred in the United States.
- our stories are interwoven and connect us as people.
